

Sondra Harmon

STREETS Co-founder

Sondra Harmon is a well-regarded thought leader in executive management and personal development and was instrumental in helping to co-found STREETS.

She earned a Bachelor of Arts in Business Administration at Michigan State University. Sondra's professional experience as a management consultant spanned a variety of global industries. She was a partner with Collective IQ, specializing in venture capital and organizational management. She also served as the CFO at White Fence.

Previously she was as a Partner and Chief Operating Officer of Atlanta-based the c-suite management firm, Executive Works.

Sondra is the founder of the online Cool Chick Café and the author of, "The Power of OUCH!" an illustrated guide to the power of healing.